

The following served as lecturers and/or discussion leaders during the 2009-2010 academic year:

Jacob Theilman, B.A. graduated with honors from Wheaton College, served with Samaritan's Purse, and is currently studying at Erskine Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Don Cox, M.Div. is the owner of Bald Guy Brew in Boone, and serves with Global Teams, a missionary organization serving unreached peoples.

Ralph Lentz, M.A. teaches World Civilizations at Appalachian State University (ASU). He is pursuing a Ph.D. in England.

The Rev. Ross Blackburn, Ph.D. teaches Biblical Studies at ASU and serves as the pastor of Christ the King in Boone.

Matthew McDill, Ph.D. teaches at ASU and serves Highland Christian Fellowship in Boone.

Matt Foster, M.Div. is the International Director of Asia for Operation Christmas Child for Samaritan's Purse and a former missionary in China.

Rodney Duke, Ph.D. is Professor of Biblical Studies at ASU, and has published widely.

Richard Burnett, Ph.D. is Professor of Systematic Theology at Erskine Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Getachew Bezabih works for SIM International among East African Muslims.

The Rev. Mark Schroeder, Ph.D. has served as a Lutheran pastor, missionary and seminary professor, and currently serves Samaritan's Purse as the Director of the Ministry department.

We have also had the privilege of listening to speakers and writers such as Greg Mortensen, Peter Kreeft, Os Guinness, Gary Habermas, Chuck Colson, Michael Lindsey, Andy Crouch.

Are [students] more certain of the truth at the end of their studies than at the beginning? Are they more steadfast? Do they know God better and desire to serve God better than when they came in? ... What is the purpose of doctrine and knowledge if it is not to know God?

Martyn Lloyd-Jones